Hixburg

Hixburg, Dec. 22.- On Thursday afternoon, from the moment the basket of greens and the Christmas bells on Mrs. Ernest Harwood's front door were seen, there was felt a festive Christmas spirit by the Pamplin Home Demonstration Club members. The 14 in the group eased into comfortable chairs, or a davenport near a crackling log fire.

Mrs. Jim Williams, president, presided for the first time. Mrs. Edwin Fore, vice-president, was absent, on account of a virus infection. Mrs. Annie Ligon led the devotional.

How Other Countries Celebrate the Birth of Christ was the topic for the day. Miss Mary Armistead conducted the discussion. In Belgium, where Miss Armistead spent one Christmas, the emphasis was on religion. On Christmas Day, it was so warm there she enjoyed an outdoor swim.

Numbers were drawn for the exchange of presents. To Miss Armistead, the club gave a permanent calendar, which will come in handy in her new office in Salem, Va. She will become the Roanoke County Agent on February 1.

Also in appreciation of seven years' work as president, Mrs. Virginia Martin was presented a silver necklace and earring.

Various kinds of home-made cookies and coffee were served by the hostess, Mrs. Ernest Harwood.

A Community Christmas Tree program was held at Pamplin on Friday evening.

More than 200 youngsters and parents were present. The Town Council secured the lights and decorated the tree. The Rev. Roland Clarke officially turned on the lights. The Rev. Harold Anderson gave the invocation.

Christmas skits, which were directed by Mrs. Ester Pulcher, were presented by Cub Scouts, of Pamplin. The climax of the program was the annual visit of Santa Claus.

As in former years, Santa's visit was sponsored by the Ruritan Club. Mr. Richard Williams was chairman of the Ruritan Committee that arranged for Santa's visit and provided gifts for the children.

Out for the holidays will be three prominent Pamplin ladies. On Dec. 23, Miss Kate Franklin will go to Richmond and spend the Yuletide with relatives. Mrs. H. M. Marshall will leave on Dec. 24 for Lynchburg, where she will be the guest for a week of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Gilliam. After a brief stay, beginning Dec. 24, with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McCauley, in Fredericksburg, Mrs. W. B. Ford will be bound for the Southland and the balmy weather of Florida. There she will remain with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Guilfoil, in Ocala, Florida, until April.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Hix announce the birth of a son, Thomas Wightman on Dec. 16, at Southside Community Hospital in Farmville. This is their third child.

PEANUT HULLS CAN BE USED AS BEEF CATTLE ROUGHAGE FOOD

Peanut hulls, a troublesome by-product of the peanut industry, can be profitably used in rations for beef cattle.

This news, coming from scientists at Virginia Agricultural Experiment Station who have conducted exhaustive tests on the subject, is good news for the beef cattle producer who may find here a new and inexpensive source of feed, and for the peanut processor, who heretofore has regarded hulls mainly as a necessary evil.

Peanut hulls, which accumulate in mountainous proportions in southeast Virginia, have been of little market value and often pose a real disposal problem. Recent work at other experiment stations with fibrous materials such as corn cobs, straw, and cottonseed hulls suggested to Virginia workers that hulls also might be used as cattle feed.

Hence the tests, which led to the following conclusions:

When properly supplemented, peanut hulls similar to those used in the tests, are a satisfactory roughage for beef cattle if they constitute not more than 60% of the total ration.

For yearling cattle, the addition of molasses to a fattening ration containing 40% peanut hulls increased feed intake slightly and showed little difference in average daily gains.

ALSAKAN DEATH RATE

New York.- Alaska is still a pioneer land on one respect — accidents ranked first among the causes of death in 1957, accounting for nearly one-fifth of all deaths.

In other ways, Alaska's health record has improved measurably in the past ten years.

Between 1947 and 1957, the TB death rate fell more than 80 per cent. Infant mortality is also declining.

TYRONNE POWERS' WILL

Los Angeles.- Tyrone Power's will leaves his eyes to a medical foundation for transplanting of the cornea to a blind person.

Value of his estate was not disclosed when his will was filed for probate. The will directs that the estate be divided into trust funds for his widow, Deborah and their unborn child; his daughters, Romina, 7, and Taryn, 5, by Miss Christian; his mother, Mrs. Patia Power, and his sister, Mrs. Anne Hardenberg.

LINDENBLAD - TERRY

The marriage of Miss Ann Bolling Terry, daughter of Mrs. Henry Theodoric Terry, of Pamplin, and the late Mr. Terry, to Irving Werner Lindenblad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nils Erik Lindenblad, Princeton, New Jersey, took place at the home of the bride December 21, at 2:00 P. M., in the presence of the immediate families.

The Rev. J. Harold Anderson officiated in a double ring ceremony. The home was decorated with ferns, cut flowers, palms, and cathedral candles. The traditional wedding music was rendered.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, N. Chatham Terry. She wore yellow orchids on a beige wool dress trimmed in satin and had brown accessories.

Mrs. Herman C. Wingfield, of Richmond, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Dr. Gordon Lindenblad, of New Brunswick, New Jersey was his brother's best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride. Mrs. N. C. Terry, of Crisz, served the wedding cake, and Mrs. J. B. Terry, of Appomattox, presided at the punch bowl.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Lindenblad will make their home in Richmond for the present, and later in Washington, D. C.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Nils Erik Lindenblad, of Princeton, N. J.; Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Lindenblad, of New Brunswick, New Jersey; Mr. H. T. Terry, Jr., of Wilmington, Delaware; Mr. and Mrs. George Abbitt Terry, of Chevy Chase, Maryland; Mrs. W. Catesby Jones, of Richmond; Mrs. B. A. Chandler, of Portsmouth; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wingfield, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Terry, of Crisz; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Terry, of Appomattox; Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Robinson, of Charlotte Court House, and P. A. Robinson, Jr., of V. P. I., Blacksburg.
